Woman, 18, attempts to revive fad

A one-woman crusade was launched at 3 a.m. Sunday to bring back a fad which was believed to have peeled away some time ago; however, it failed when Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy Donald Cox rounded the corner at Court and Main streets in front of the Courthouse and observed the young Washington C.H. female, getting out of a car and running west on Court Street in the nude!

Her companions in the auto followed her and as the 18-year-old woman attempted to return to the car, Deputy Cox stopped the vehicle and found the nude girl along with four other clothed females.

She was arrested and brought to the county jail, where she was booked for public indecency. The young woman is presently free on $250 bond.

Deputy Cox was returning to the sheriff's department following his tour of duty when the incident occurred.

Rural areas still safer

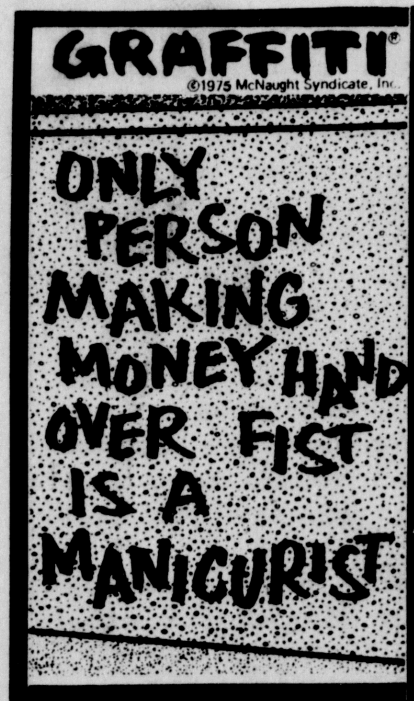

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The country is "still far safer than the city" but crimes against property have increased sharply over the past 10 years, the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation said today.

The farm bureau drew that conclusion from a nine-county study described today as "the first comprehensive rural crime study conducted in the United States."

The report found crime in rural areas had climbed 300 per cent over a 10-year period ending in 1973, with vandalism and theft leading a list of mostly minor offenses.

"Although rural crime rates are higher than expected," the report said, "they tend to be minor crimes. Rural people generally feel safe and secure at home and in their community."

Farm bureau executive vice president C. William Swank said 60 per cent of the crimes were committed by people from urban areas of at least 2,500 population. "It isn't farm kids or farm workers that are doing this," he contended.

Funeral services scheduled Tuesday

Clarksburg driver fatally injured

CIRCLEVILLE — Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Lonnie James Short, 33, Clarksburg, who died at 9:19 p.m. Saturday from injuries sustained in a one-car accident on U.S. 22 near Williamsport.

Short was reportedly driving an auto eastbound on U.S. 22 toward Williamsport at a high rate of speed when the auto went off the left side of the roadway and rolled onto its top at Locust Grove-Dublin Hill Road, according to Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Nicholas Franklin, who investigated the accident.

11 members of family slain

Easter reunion ends in tragedy

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — What began as an Easter reunion for Charity Ruppert's family ended in tragedy with 11 members of the family dead and another charged with murder.

Police found the 65-year-old woman; her 42-year-old son, Leonard; his wife, Alma, and their eight children, ranging in age from 3 to 18, shot to death Sunday night at Mrs. Ruppert's two-story home.

Tax bill signing helpful, harmful

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — By signing the tax cut bill, President Ford appears to have deepened his difficulties with Republican conservatives who had urged him to veto the bill in order to

All but one had been shot in the head, police said. The other was shot in the chest.

While police wheeled the shrouded bodies pass horrorstricken neighbors, Mrs. Ruppert's other son, James, was being charged with aggravated murder.

He was scheduled for a preliminary limit the federal budget deficit.

At the same time, however, Ford may have helped himself in an over-all political sense by combining actions that demonstrated moderation and conciliation with words that were sharply critical of Congress.

If the tax cut succeeds in its basic purpose of stimulating consumer spending, it could help bring about an economic recovery that would strengthen the President's position going into the 1976 election campaign.

The size of the federal deficit, now estimated by Ford at about $60 billion and by congressional experts at least $10 billion higher, has been one of the chief points of difference between GOP conservatives and Ford.

They were critical of the President's original budget with its $52 billion deficit and were cool toward the idea of spurring economic recovery by a reduction in taxes that would increase the deficit.

During the congressional debate on the tax measure, conservatives led the battle against it and provided most of the negative votes on its final passage.

While top Democratic leaders who fought for the tax cut hailed Ford's action Saturday night, negative reactions were coming from conservatives, including Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

"I am very disappointed that he did not veto the bill," Goldwater said. "This country cannot go on having the kind of deficit this will mean without going bankrupt in a period of five years."

More significantly, perhaps, the No. 2 man in the House Republican leadership, Rep. Robert H. Michel of Illinois, indicated there would be widespread disappointment in the party's right wing.

"I think some of the conservatives who voted against a tax relief bill are going to be a bit perturbed after they went out on a limb for this thing and then the President signed it," Michel said.

Due to mechanical difficulties in The Record-Herald pressroom today's edition was late in being printed.

hearing Wednesday, according to Butler County Prosecutor John Holcomb.

"I thought I'd seen everything until I saw this," said Holcomb. "It's absolutely unbelievable."

Ruppert, being held in the Hamilton City Jail, has refused to talk, according to Holcomb.

John Spear, who lives across the street from Mrs. Ruppert, said his eight-year-old daughter went to deliver an Easter basket to the house Sunday morning. He said Mrs. Ruppert told the child she expected her family for Easter dinner later that day.

The family arrived later in the morning, according to another neighbor, George Wroot.

"They all drove up in this big black van, and piled out of the car and staged an Easter egg hunt on the lawn," he recalled.

Two of the older children were seen attending church Sunday morning.

Police said they received a phone call from a man about 9:30 p.m., went to the home and found the family dead. The bodies were found in the living room and kitchen.

There was no sign of a struggle in the house except for an overturned wastepaper basket, officers said.

Dr. Garrett Boone, the Butler County coroner, said it was possible that some of the victims had been shot once, then shot again to make sure they were dead.

"It's unlikely that 11 people would have been shot and killed unless they were held in some way or were in a position where none of them could escape."

James Ruppert, 40, was recently laid off from his job as a draftsman.

He grew up in Hamilton and was described by one of his neighbors as being brilliant.

"He was kind of a loner though," said the neighbor, who said Ruppert often stayed with his mother.

The same neighbor described Mrs. Ruppert as "the sweetest woman who ever lived."

"She loved kids," he said.

Tax cut to spark new battles

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's reluctant acceptance of a $24.8-billion antirecession tax-cut bill is expected to set the stage for a year-long battle with Congress over spending priorities.

In addition, the next major dispute between Congress and the White House probably will be over solutions to the nation's energy problems.

Most congressmen who commented publicly on Ford's decision to sign the bill agreed with him on the need to hold down spending so that recent gains against inflation will not be wiped out.

But few congressmen seemed ready to accept Ford's position that new social programs will have to wait until the economy improves. Some challenged the President's hold-the-line posture on the ground that he is asking more for defense and foreign-aid spending.

In signing the compromise tax-cut bill in a nationally broadcast speech Saturday night, Ford promised to "resist every attempt by the Congress to add another dollar to" the projected record $60-billion deficit in the fiscal year that begins July 1.

Ford said the only exceptions will be "where our long-range national-security interests are involved as in the attainment of energy independence or for urgent humanitarian needs."

In a statement that summed up the reactions of several of his colleagues, Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, said: "I agree that we've got to hold down federal spending as much as possible to keep the deficit down. But I don't want to see this become an excuse for this administration to dismantle badly needed domestic programs it doesn't like."

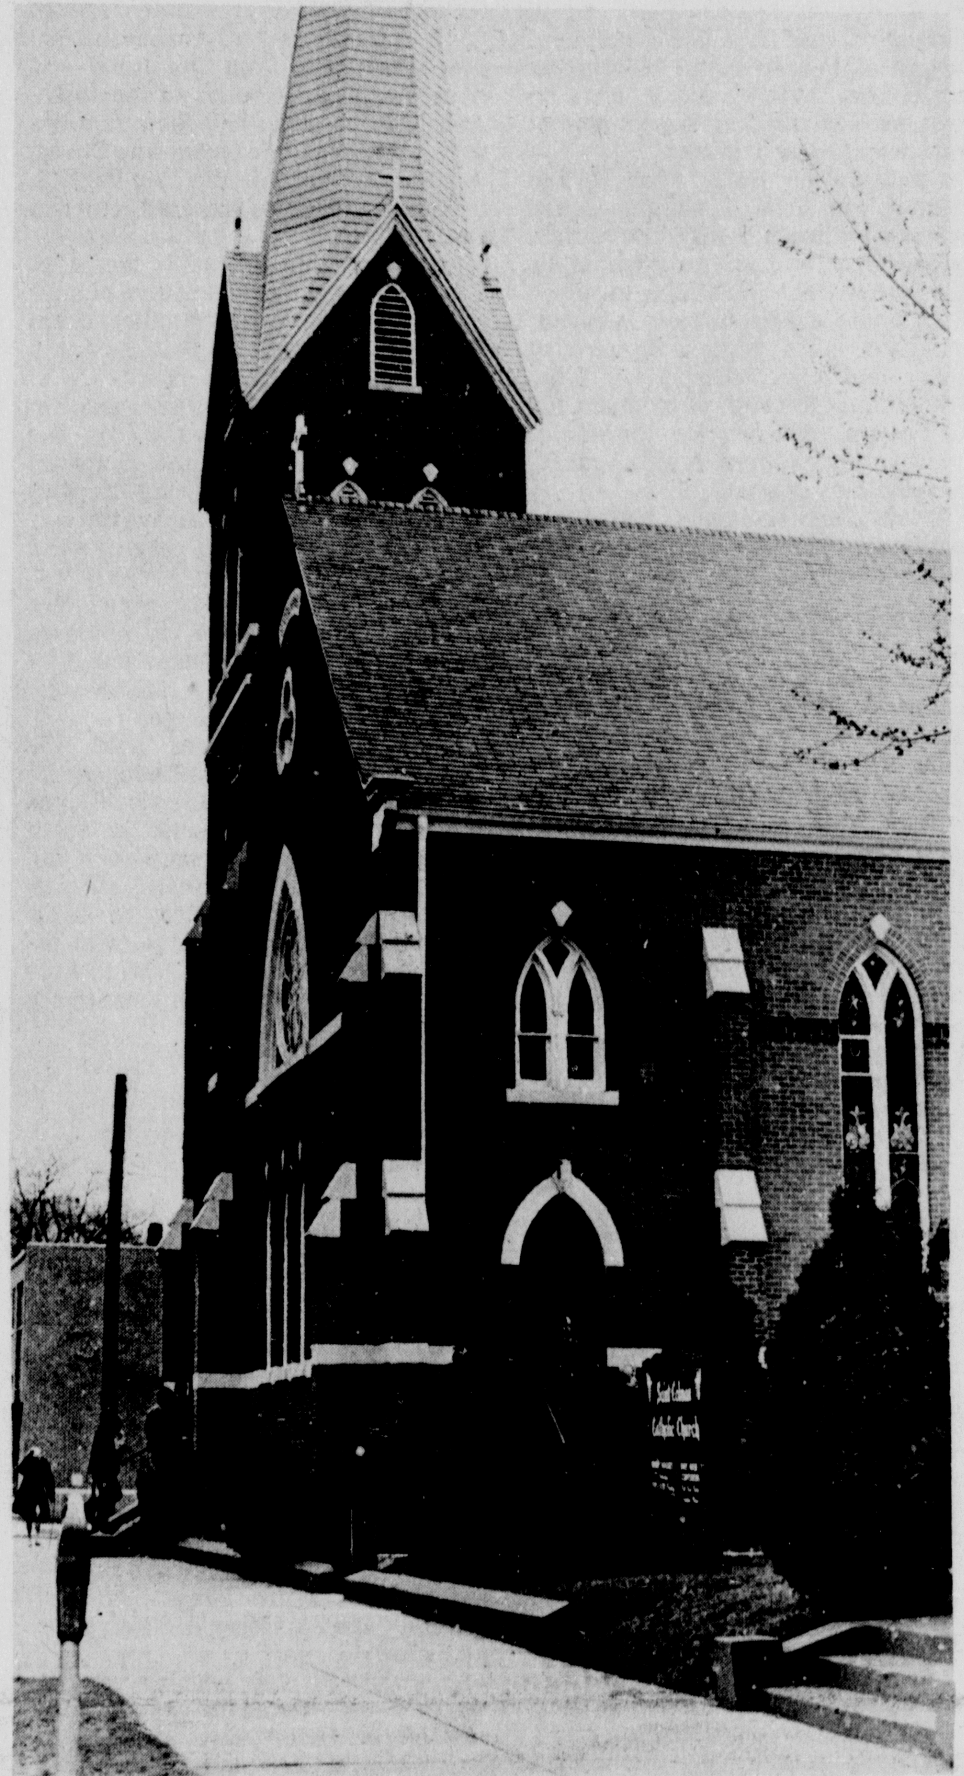

Ford predicted that if all spending programs under serious consideration by congressional committees were enacted, the deficit would rise to $100 billion.

Such a level would be intolerable and dangerous, the President said. The government would drain all the lendable funds from the money markets and citizens would be unable to borrow to buy new homes and cars, he added.

Ford said a $60-billion deficit "is as far as we dare to go."

The upcoming energy debate grows out of Ford's own program designed to reduce U.S. reliance on foreign oil. The President has proposed to reduce fuel consumption by raising the price of all fuels through special taxes and by removing federal controls from the price of oil and natural gas.

this approach, although the House Ways and Means Committee is considering a proposal by its chairman, Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., that would levy additional gasoline taxes.

The final $24.8-billion tax cut was a compromise among the $16.2-billion figure recommended by Ford, the $21.3 billion voted by the House and the $34.3 billion approved by the Senate.

If employers can make the adjustments on time, the first effects of the tax cut will be felt by most workers in paychecks received the first week in May when new lower withholding rates are due to begin.

The tax cut includes $18.1 billion in individual tax reductions, $1.9 billion in increased expenditures for Social Security recipients and the unemployed, and $4.8 billion in tax cuts for business.

Communist shelling halts U.S. sealift at Da Nang

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Communist shelling has forced a halt in the American evacuation of Da Nang by sea, cutting the last escape route for an estimated 1½ million refugees trapped in the fallen city, U.S. military sources said today.

"We are not able to work there because the Communists are not being very cooperative," one source said. "They are firing."

The last jetliner took off Saturday and North Vietnamese forces, who Sunday captured Da Nang, control the surrounding provinces.

The suspension of the sealift came less than 12 hours after the Viet Cong delegation in Saigon called the evacuation a "deceptive trick" and said its forces in Da Nang were "determined to punish all acts of encroachment upon their sovereignty."

American officials estimated that from 30,000 to 50,000 refugees had fled Da Nang by sea since Wednesday while another 2,000 to 4,000 managed to escape by air.

South Vietnamese government officials estimated that the city's normal population of 500,000 had been swollen to about 2 million by the influx from the northern provinces taken over by the Communists.

The U.S. Embassy said Consul General Al Francis, who had been assisting with the sealift, had escaped aboard the last voyage of the Pioneer Commander, one of the ships chartered for the evacuation.

Two freighters packed with refugees were unloading them at Cam Ranh Bay today, and a U.S. Navy freighter, the Andrew Miller, was awaiting orders off Cam Ranh Bay after unloading about 6,000 refugees early.

The freighter Trans-Colorado was due in the Da Nang area today, and the American Challenger was ordered to head for the Vietnamese coast. Two U.S. Navy amphibious ships were due off the Vietnamese coast during the night, and two more were ordered to Vietnamese waters.

U.S. officials said the rescue ships would stand by while the situation was assessed.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said President Ford ordered the U.S. ships to "avoid hostilities" and withdraw if fired on.

Associated Press correspondent Peter O'Loughlin left Da Nang Sunday aboard the refugee ship Pioneer Contender and said the 4,000 civilians and soldiers aboard the craft might be the last to escape.

In the violent scramble for space, several babies fell overboard and their mothers jumped into the heaving sea in vain attempts to save them. One woman's baby had died in her arms while she waited on a barge for four days without water or shelter; she became hysterical as she came aboard the freighter and leaped overboard.

Grant awarded to county CAC

WASHINGTON — Congressman William H. Harsha today announced that the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has awarded a grant in the amount of $30,000 to the Fayette County Community Action Commission for the operation of a summer Head Start program.

The grant, according to Harsha, will cover the cost of medical, dental social and psychological services for the approximately 120 pre-school children from low income families in Fayette County.

Deaths, Funerals

Stanley M. Bernard

SABINA — Stanley M. Bernard, 54, Sabina, a former administrator of the Greenfield Municipal Hospital, and past president of the Wilmington Lions Club, died at 5:15 a.m. Monday in Brown Hospital, Dayton Veterans Administration Center, after an extended illness.

Mr. Bernard was a graduate of Wilmington High School, a member of the Sabina Masonic Lodge No. 324, the Scottish Rite Valley of Cincinnati and the American Legion Post 49 of Wilmington and had been active in banking at Port William, Wilmington and Sabina before taking up employment with the Ohio Department of Transportation in Lebanon.

A veteran of World War II and member of the Sabina United Methodist Church where he taught Sunday School and past president of the Wilmington Lions Club, he is survived by his wife, Georgianna Ross Bernard; a daughter, Miss Virginia Bernard, at home; two sons, Joseph L., Blanchester, and Kenneth R., Cincinnati; one brother, Edward B., Mansfield; and two grandchildren. A son, Neal R., preceded him in death.

Funeral arrangements are being completed under the direction of Littleton's Funeral Home, Sabina.

FRED WOOD — Services for Fred Wood, 80, of 310½ Bereman St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home, Washington C.H., with the Rev. Cloyce Copley officiating. Mr. Wood, a retired carpenter and former owner of a N. North Street grocery store for several years, died Wednesday.

Palbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were Charles Atwood, Clinton Grove, Larry and Roy Wright, James Campbell and Michael Wood.

Arabs are told

Canal opening not prelude to peace

By The Associated Press
A leading Egyptian political analyst today sought to reassure Arab radicals that President Anwar Sadat's decision to reopen the Suez Canal does not amount to an end to the state of war against Israel.

Ihsan Abdel Kuddous, chairman of the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram, also indicated that Sadat's announcement of a three-month extension of the United Nations peacekeeping force in the Sinai Desert had been taken without consulting Syria, Egypt's main ally in the October 1973 war with Israel.

Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin said Egypt's refusal to another six-month mandate for the force was a "negative indication." He said it is "vital that the United States pursue its peace-seeking efforts in the Middle East."

Sadat announced Saturday night that the Suez Canal — closed since the June 1967 war — would reopen June 5 and that the U.N. force between Israeli and Egyptian forces in the Sinai Desert would be allowed to stay for three months after the present six-month mandate expires April 26.

Reds continue takeover

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—The Communist advance through South Vietnam today threatened the Saigon government's last remaining enclaves on the central coast, touched off an evacuation of Americans from Saigon and suspended the American evacuation of an estimated 1½ million Vietnamese refugees from Da Nang.

Heavy fighting was reported 25 miles northwest of Qui Nhon, the country's third largest city, as North Vietnamese forces from the Central Highlands pushed eastward toward the central coast. Radio contact between Qui Nhon and Saigon, 270 miles to the southeast, was reported broken. But sources said the city was still in government hands.

U.S. officials said all Americans had been evacuated from Qui Nhon and from Tuy Hoa, 50 miles to the south. American civilians and their families were being evacuated from Nha Trang, 60 miles south of Tuy Hoa, but the U.S. Consulate there was still open, officials said.

Embassy sources said the U.S. Embassy began the evacuation of staff members and their families from Saigon on a semi-official basis as a precaution because of the possibility of political turmoil and anti-Americanism as well as an attack on the city. The sources explained that the Embassy was not asking or ordering its personnel or their families to leave but was paying for their travel if they chose to go.

U.S. officials estimate there were about 6,000 Americans in Vietnam when the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong offensive began a month ago. Most of them were in Saigon.

U.S. military sources said the evacuation of Vietnamese refugees by sea from Da Nang in American ships had been suspended because the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were firing on the ships. American officials estimated that from 30,000 to 50,000 refugees managed to escape from Da Nang by sea and another 2,000 to 4,000 fled by air before the North Vietnamese occupied the city Sunday, completing their conquest of the northern part of South Vietnam.

North Vietnam termed the American refugee sealift and President Ford's order for four U.S. Navy ships to participate a "brazen provocation." It demanded that all U.S. Navy ships stay away from South Vietnam.

Ford's spokesman, Ron Nessen, said the President had ordered American ships in the sealift to "avoid hostilities" and withdraw if fired on.

U.S. officials said the rescue ships were standing by off Da Nang while the situation was being assessed. They said no bargeloads of refugees were moving off the beach, indicating that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had consolidated their control of the city, restored order and were preventing any more refugees from leaving.

"The flag of the Provisional Revolutionary Government is floating over the city of Da Nang," said the Viet Cong delegation in Saigon Sunday.

It said the South Vietnamese army "fled in complete rout, and thousands of soldiers handed over their weapons and surrendered."

Hanoi Radio said the people poured into the streets to welcome the Viet Cong. It said many government officials "mutinied, punished their dihard commanders and came over to the revolution with weapons." Other Saigon troops were "seized with panic" and were wiped out or taken prisoner, Hanoi said.

Easter storminess hammers nation

By The Associated Press
Easter Sunday storms swirled across the northern tier of states from the Rockies to New England.

A storm threatened to dump more snow on North Dakota, where the snow pack totaled as much as 26 inches early today. Gusting winds hit 50 miles per hour under cold arctic blasts across Montana, Wyoming and parts of Nebraska and sweeps of wind were clocked at 70 m.p.h. in the central Rockies.

Heavy snow squalls were blowing off the lower Great Lakes, gusting up to 50 m.p.h. on the Cleveland lakefront. Up to five inches of snow was expected in western New York state.

Ford promotes energy quest through trip

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — With a $24.8 billion tax cut signed into law, President Ford seeks to dramatize his quest for energy today by visiting the Navy's Elk Hills petroleum reserve near Bakersfield.

Emerging Sunday from St. Margaret's Episcopal Church in Palm Desert, Ford did not respond when a reporter asked him about the military situation in South Vietnam.

But an hour later, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said, when asked for Ford's reaction to events there:

"You could say that the President considers the fall of Da Nang to be an immense human tragedy. It has cruelly trapped many hundreds of thousands of South Vietnamese refugees who tried until the last moment to escape the North Vietnamese Army. It should be deeply disturbing to all civilized mankind."

Asked if he was quoting Ford, Nessen replied, "I am just passing on to you the President's thoughts on the fall of Da Nang."

Ford, who made a recession-fighting tax cut his top priority for the 1975 Congressional session, now hopes to spur the fashioning of a compromise energy program with Congress by May 1.

Ford voluntarily delayed the second of his planned three $1-a-barrel increases in the oil import tariff to give Congress and administration officials time to come up with a compromise program for energy conservation.

The compromise avoided a congressional attempt to override Ford's veto of legislation taking away his right to impose the tariff increases.

Expanded oil production at Elk Hills is one goal of an energy bill Ford has put before Congress. Doing a little tub-thumping for his proposal, the President was allotting a big chunk of the day to the inspection of drilling sites, an oil pumping operation and an oil storage construction site at the reserve, which has estimated recoverable oil reserves of 1.2 billion barrels.

Before going to Elk Hills, however, the President was pausing at the Bakersfield Airport for what, if this were an election year, would be called an airport rally.

The President and Mrs. Ford spent a quiet Easter in Palm Springs, attending Sunday services together at the tiny, modernistic church and having a private dinner together in a hillside mansion they are renting for $100 a day from a millionaire friend.

The loss of Da Nang without a fight intensified demands in Saigon for the replacement of President Nguyen Van Thieu. Informed Western and Vietnamese sources believe that his power base among senior military officers is being rapidly undermined, and that more Communist successes might result in his replacement, either to rally resistance against the Communists or to negotiate with them.

The military debacle of the last three weeks — during which the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have extended their control over more than half of the country — has raised widespread doubts in Saigon that even the South Vietnamese government's bastion could withstand a massive Communist attack.

In Cambodia, President Lon Nol held a farewell round of meetings with his generals, his political associates and U.S. Ambassador John Gunther Dean before leaving for Indonesia and the United States. Thai Premier Kukrit Pramoj said Lon Nol would pass through Thailand today and change planes for Indonesia, but other sources said he would not depart until Tuesday.

Officially Lon Nol is not leaving permanently, but nobody expects him back. The generally expressed hope in Phnom Penh is that with the president out of the way, Premier Long Boret will be able to arrange peace negotiations with the Khmer Rouge insurgents.

Stock list goes higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market responded to President Ford's signing of a tax cut bill with a broad advance today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up nearly a point, and gainers held a 5-2 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said it appeared investors regarded the tax-cut measure as a potential stimulus toward an economic recovery in the months ahead.

Another favorable factor was the prime rate cut from 7 1/2 to 7 1/4 per cent by New York's First National City Bank on Friday, when the market was closed.

That put Citibank's basic charge on loans to large corporations at its lowest level since the middle of 1973.

Citicorp, First National City's parent holding company, gained 1/4 to 33 3/4 in active early trading.

Also active were Ramada Inns, up 1/8 at 5; American Telephone & Telegraph, up 1/4 at 50, and American Home Products, unchanged at 38 1/4.

Sex and automobiles occupy book thieves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Columbus reading public is preoccupied with sex and cars — if books stolen from the public library are any indication.

Volumes on sexual subjects and automobile repair rank tops among books most often stolen from the business and technology division, according to librarian Robert M. Stafford.

Other frequently lost books include military qualification guides and practice tests for civil service employees such as post office workers, fireman and policemen, Stafford said.

"It makes you kind of wonder when we find tests for police patrolmen missing," a fellow librarian observed.

Stafford said books on divorce and such related problems as alimony, child custody and property settlements also "tend to walk away," along with guides on preparing resumes for job applications.

Stafford said two or three copies of the 2,000-page "Physicians' Desk Reference" are ripped off each year. The book describes drugs and their effects.

The library, which contains 1,145,400 volumes in its main building and 21 branches covering Franklin County, categorizes a book as "lost" if it has been stolen or is overdue more than a year.

Handsomely bound books — the kind that look attractive in book cases or on coffee tables — are also popular with pilferers, librarians said.

Librarians in the humanities division said their biggest losses are religious volumes — including the Bible — and books on literary criticism, poetry and plays, which are heavily used by students.

The fiction division said best sellers and books needed for high school and college classes are volumes most often taken from their shelves.

Librarians said graduate students, who argue they are justified in keeping books out for long periods, are the biggest offenders.

Acting library Director James E. Ahlstrom said the library has lost 100,000 volumes in the past seven years.

NOTICE TO EMPLOYERS

OF WITHHOLDING REQUIREMENTS FOR MUNICIPAL INCOME TAX

- Ordinance No. 9-75 enacted as an emergency measure by the Council of the City of Washington, Ohio on March 26, 1975 levies a one per cent (1 per cent) city income tax effective April 1, 1975.
- In accordance with the provisions of the above-mentioned ordinance, employers within or doing business within the City of Washington, Ohio are required commencing April 1, 1975, to deduct at the time of payment of salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation the tax of one per cent (1 per cent) of the gross salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation due by the employer to an employee.
- Employers shall on or before the last day of the month following the close of each calendar quarter make a return and pay to the Tax Administrator the amount of taxes so deducted. Said returns are to be made on form or forms prescribed by or acceptable to the Tax Administrator and shall be subject to the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder by the Tax Administrator.

Congressional slipups noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — He was an eminent psychiatrist who had studied the relationship between violence in the United States and the number of handguns owned by Americans.

He presented a paper to the House subcommittee on crime, which is holding hearings on gun control. Then, it was time for his conclusion.

Among them: "The gun is a key instrument in gun deaths," he told the subcommittee.

Congress, caught up in the serious debates of the time, occasionally has its lighter moments. Among them:

A freshman Democrat in the House from Illinois named Paul Simon is concerned about too close an identification with the Republican administration's William E. Simon, the Treasury secretary.

The latest mixup between the two involved a telegram from a farmer in Greenville, Ill., asking Rep. Simon to support the farm bureau position on House agriculture legislation. Western Union sent it to Treasury's Simon.

Rep. Simon says he's been getting both blame and credit for administration policies in his home district so he's sent photographs of himself and the Treasury secretary to every newspaper in the district with the explanation that the secretary is "the one without the bow tie." Rep. Simon always wears one.

Once, a group of congressmen concerned about the plight of the Rock Island Lines called a meeting of members from three states to hear an explanation of what the United States Railway Association could or could not do for the railroad.

Six showed up and five were readily identified. Afterward, reporters trying to find out who the sixth was asked Rep. Thomas F. Railsback, R-Ill.

"I don't know," Railsback replied. "I was wondering about that myself."

WASHINGTON CALLING By Marquis Childs

Bottling the atomic genie

WASHINGTON — A long time ago, as time is measured by the fantastic sweep of events, President John F. Kennedy called for help in getting the atomic genie back in the bottle.

The issue was the nuclear non-proliferation treaty as the Russians continued to explode massive test bombs in the atmosphere.

The treaty, finally signed in Moscow, was an achievement coming toward the close of the Kennedy presidency.

The signatories would forever forego nuclear weapons and the possessors of those weapons would move as rapidly as possible toward nuclear disarmament. Since that ceremonial signing in 1963 the atomic genie, in one form or another, has spread to every corner of the earth.

The United States today has 30,000 nuclear weapons of which up to 22,000 are tactical, close to a third distributed in Europe and Asia, according to a count made by the Center for Defense Information.

U.S. military guards supposedly keep these weapons - each one with more destructive power than the bomb that wiped out Hiroshima - invulnerable so they can be used only by American military personnel.

Instable countries such as South

Korea these safeguards might not prevail against forces determined to seize them.

But this is only part, really a minor part, of the genie's spreading menace. More than 50 countries have nuclear reactors and about 30 countries possess "weapons-quantities" of plutonium or highly enriched uranium which could be used to make bombs.

More than half of these have refused to ratify the nonproliferation treaty. With very little know-how, much of it in the public domain, they could make atomic weapons.

This was set forth in detail in a recent speech by Sen. Stuart Symington who, as chairman of a subcommittee dealing with the military uses of atomic material, knows as much about these matters as anyone outside the Pentagon.

The speech got no attention. The public, distracted by so many immediate troubles, would apparently like to look the other way.

A nasty shock came last year when India set off a nuclear explosion. With characteristic Indian rhetoric, the government in New Delhi said this was only for peaceful purposes such as blasting for dams.

Although the nonproliferation treaty had not been signed, the explosion seemed a violation of the agreement with Canada and the United States which had helped India with peaceful nuclear projects on condition that the plutonium generated in these projects be used solely to fuel reactors.

The shock to opinion was particularly acute in neighboring Pakistan which has fought three wars with India since 1947.

The explosion in India is taken as evidence that countries can evade the system of detection of the International Atomic Energy Agency, established to prevent possible diversion of nuclear fuel in reactors in 32 countries.

Only 10 to 20 pounds of plutonium are necessary to make an atomic bomb with the destructive power of that dropped on Hiroshima, equivalent to about 10,000 to 15,000 tons of TNT.

Yet close to 90,000 pounds of plutonium have been produced by commercial nuclear power plants, not including amounts used for nuclear weapons by the five nations with weapons.

The United States offered to provide reactors to Egypt and Israel, although neither country has ratified the treaty. With delays resulting from the tense political situation in the Middle East, France rushed in to sell Egypt a reactor.

Not a member of the nonproliferation treaty, France feels free to get into the hot nuclear market everywhere.

According to knowledgeable sources Israel is estimated to have sufficient plutonium and/or enriched uranium to make at least 10 bombs. While assembly of the actual mechanism could take up to three months, there is no information as to how far this process has progressed.

When Turkey and Greece came close to war over Cyprus the threat of America's nuclear arsenals was reason for serious concern. Responding to the congressional arms embargo, Turkey's defense minister proclaimed that this country has "plans to manufacture atom bombs."

The State Department is still negotiating for the continuing use of American bases in Greece with their nuclear weapons as the Cyprus deadlock defies solution.

As all this shows, putting the genie back in the bottle is going to take a lot more than treaties and earnest professions of good will.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, APRIL 1

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)
An occupational situation may tax your ingenuity but cast aside any doubts of your ability to handle. By midday, you'll have the answers you need.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)
You may receive a job offer which entails greater responsibility but, along with it, your opportunities will multiply. Think carefully.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
Don't judge the future by the past. You can shape your destiny through your own efforts. To "let be what must be" is ineffective; in fact, it's a lazy attitude.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Do not envy others. Successful acquaintances can actually assist you. You have an analytical mind and penetrating insight: Use them!

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
As with Cancer, scotch a present tendency toward jealousy. Don't nurture grudges but, rather, emphasize your innate tolerance and loyalty.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
This is a day for giving things a REAL try. Just be certain you are heading in the right direction. Discuss goals with family and (or) knowing associates.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
This looks like one of your better days. You should be the center of attraction in whatever circle you find yourself — business or pleasure.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Excellent Mars influences! New trends may result in an agreement where there was only opposition before. Do make the most of such fine opportunity.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Jupiter influences not too friendly. Avoid getting in over your head — especially where you happen to be on unfamiliar ground.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
A favorable day for negotiations, working toward contract settlements. Parties of the second part now appreciate what you have to offer.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Mixed influences. Stay out of speculative ventures and be exceptionally careful in dealings with the opposite sex.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
The Piscean tendency to seek the unusual and offbeat will be much in evidence now. You'll find much satisfaction in areas others overlook.

Ohio Perspective State GOP promises — oops!

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Party platform promises, promises.

The 1974 Ohio Republican campaign platform, a program approved last Oct. 10, pledged no new taxes over the next four years and continued resistance to increased fees at state universities.

The GOP called its platform one that "every Republican candidate in the state" could campaign under.

To date, Gov. James A. Rhodes has proposed statewide votes on higher sales and gasoline taxes, and his budget would permit trustees to raise fees at institutions of higher learning.

Rhodes defended his proposals for moderate increases in state sales and gasoline taxes on grounds voters would have the final say.

"Let the people decide," he said.

The $12.2 billion budget proposed by Rhodes does not call for higher college fees, but lifts "the mandated ceiling on instructional and general fees to allow the board of trustees . . . of each institution to decide among funding priorities and the necessity for additional income."

The GOP platform, which had considerable direct material from the Rhodes campaign, also promised relief of real estate taxes and the earmarking of state income tax revenue for education.

No recognizable steps have been taken in either direction.

A key promise to change the state income tax law to give married couples a choice between filing joint and separate returns was not included in the budget.

"The money for it just wasn't there," said Howard Collier, director of the Office of Budget and Management. "He was very upset. He has strong feelings about this."

Bills pending in the legislature to accomplish the same thing indicate the revenue lost to the state under such a plan would total $171.2 million over the biennium.

A Democrat-sponsored bill that stands a good chance of passing the General Assembly would reduce personal property tax rates, another goal of the GOP platform.

Rhodes has attempted to make good on a promise of new "efforts to make the tax climate in Ohio more attractive to encourage business expansion."

He is attempting to place a constitutional amendment on the November ballot that would offer 30-year tax abatements to new industries building in areas of critical need throughout the state.

The governor also has taken direct action on a home rule plank. He signed an executive order rescinding former Gov. John J. Gilligan's plan to reorganize the state into regional planning and service districts. Republicans said this threatened local governments.

Rhodes has made no specific moves to implement a promise to reform the welfare department. His budget provides $2.1 billion for welfare costs, up 24 per cent. Collier said that much "will be required just to maintain benefit levels."

The governor claims his "jobs and progress programs" will create hundreds of thousands of jobs and drastically reduce welfare rolls.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
She should forget about 'Baby's' valentine

DEAR ABBY: My husband sent a mushy valentine to a girl, and on the bottom of it he wrote: "I love you, Baby!"

He must have put the wrong address on the envelope because it came back with "ADDRESS UNKNOWN" on it.

Naturally I was curious when I saw this big, fancy looking envelope addressed to some name I had never heard of in my life in my husband's handwriting, with his return address on the back, so I opened it, and when I saw what it was, I nearly fainted!

Should I confront him with it, or forget it?

BROOKLYN WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Forget it. If "Baby" thinks he forgot her on Valentine's Day, it might be the beginning of the end. Which would be better for all three of you, since he's married to you.

DEAR ABBY: I have recently started to give private piano lessons to young children, and I am planning my first recital.

Since most of my students' parents have never heard me play, would it be all right for me to play a number or two myself on the program? Or do you think it would be considered showing off on my part?

Maybe an experienced piano teacher has the answer.

PERLLEXED PIANIST

DEAR PERLLEXED: Maybe. And I would welcome their letters. My experience is limited to my own violin recitals. My instructor, Leo Kuckinckl, a very talented violinist in his own right, did not perform at the recitals of his pupils. But in retrospect, perhaps he should have. He would have inspired his pupils, and entertained their parents.

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter from a woman who wrote to tell you what a wonderful husband she had. Well, let me tell you about mine:

For 26 years, I was married to a man who phoned me three times a day to tell me he loved me and ask how the children and I were. He told me I was beautiful every time I got dressed up, and he took me out to dinner at least twice a week.

He sent me and the children to Florida in the winter to escape the New York cold. He called me in Miami every day, and came down every other weekend to be with me.

He showered me with jewelry and furs, a new car every other year, and I had one of the loveliest homes on Long Island.

P.S. Then, out of the blue, he asked me for a divorce so he could marry the woman he had been seeing for 16 years! I hung on to him for four more years, then realizing it was hopeless, I let him go. He married her the minute he was free.

Now I know why he called me so much, and why he shipped me and the children off to Florida.

At least his guilty conscience made him take good care of me and the children (financially).

Abby, please tell women that when a man is too good to his wife, he could be sending out warning signals.

FOOLED

DEAR FOOLED: How good must a man be to be "too good" to his wife? It doesn't necessarily follow that a husband who is overly attentive and generous to his wife is acting out of guilt.

You don't say what your husband did for a living, but if he had been seeing another woman for 16 years, and you didn't have a clue, he could qualify for an Academy Award.

DEAR ABBY: I have a message for Russell in Houston, who wanted to grow up and become President of the United States:

Hurry! They way things are going, and in case you make it, I will keep a bed available for you. This is a home for mental patients, and everyone here is off his rocker—including the staff.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, March 31, the 90th day of 1975. There are 275 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1854, the first treaty between the United States and Japan was signed, opening two Japanese ports to trade with the outside world. On this date—

In 1732, the composer, Joseph Haydn, was born in Austria.

In 1889, the Eiffel Tower was opened in Paris.

In 1917, the United States took possession of the American Virgin Islands after their purchase from Denmark.

In 1949, Newfoundland became Canada's tenth province, following a plebiscite.

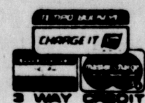

In 1953, Dag Hammarskjold of Sweden was elected United Nations Secretary-General.

In 1933, Congress created the Civilian Conservation Corps to provide vocational training and employment for young American men.

One year ago: President Richard Nixon announced in a radio broadcast that he was establishing a committee to coordinate the nation's scattered programs for war veterans.

'Music Man' cast presents program at BPW meeting

The March dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club was held at the Washington Country Club.

A delightful program was presented by part of the cast from the Music Man, who sang several selections under the direction of Mrs. Cinda Stinson, vocal music director of Miami Trace High School. The Musical is to be presented at the school auditorium April 18th and 19th.

The speakers were four students from Washington Senior High School who attended the Teenage Drug Institute last summer of which our club is a sponsor. The students who participated were Cindy VanMeter, Brian Cook, Cindy Vaughn, and Barb Oswald. The students were introduced by Mrs. Phil French.

Mrs. Smith Mace gave a short report on the Spring Conference held in Fairborn March 2. Eleven delegates were voted to attend the Conference to be held at the Neil House in Columbus.

Mrs. Emrick feted at dinner-party

A 'welcome home' dinner was held Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Emrick, honoring Mrs. Margaret Emrick, who has just returned home from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., after spending the winter months with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Emrick.

Members of the family attending the turkey dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Beryl (Anna Lee) Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Norman (Janet) West and sons, Tony and Tom, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Emrick and son, Ross, and daughter, Cheryl, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Osborne and daughter, Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. John Emrick and son Ray of Washington C.H.; Mrs. Pat Wisecup and daughters, Kris and Brenda of Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Emrick of Columbus; and Mrs. Emrick's special friend, Mrs. Martha Hartley.

Mrs. Emrick received an orchid from her great-granddaughter, Tray Ann Osborne, and slides were enjoyed by all.

Crusaders plan dinner-meeting

Christian Crusaders Class of South Side Church of Christ will meet at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in Fellowship Hall for a covered-dish dinner and meeting.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Willis Anthony and Mrs. John Sparks. Mrs. J.G. Jordan will be in charge of devotions and Mrs. Grant Whiteside the entertainment. All members are urged to attend.

Mrs. Minshall honored guest

Mrs. Virginia Minshall, leader of District 12 Auxiliary, F.O.E., was an honored guest Thursday evening of Champion Auxiliary 397, F.O.E., Springfield.

A class of 71 candidates were initiated in her honor. Mrs. Minshall is the Madam President of Fayette Auxiliary, 423, F.O.E., Washington C.H.

Those attending with her were Mrs. Raymond Ater and Mrs. Agnes Wain.

BPW committee holds meeting

The Public Relation Committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club met to make plans for the April dinner meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert R. Goldsberry.

Mrs. Gary Johnson, co-chairman, conducted the meeting. Miss Mary Francis Snider from the bulletin committee was a guest.

Other members present were Mrs. Hans Seiler, Mrs. James Stethem, Mrs. Wilbur Morgan and Miss Fern Chaffin.

THE GEORGIAN — 'The Georgian', an 1833 mansion purchased recently by the Fairfield Heritage Association, will be one of the points of interest on the annual tour of homes to be held Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and 4, in Lancaster from 1 to 6 p.m.

Lancaster tour of homes scheduled for May 3 and 4

Eleven homes and semi-private buildings will be open to the public during the Fairfield Heritage Association Pilgrimage in Lancaster from 1 to 6 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and 4. The tour offers a wide variety of architectural styles dating from 1803 to 1974, all chosen for quality of restoration and furnishings.

Headquarters is "The Georgian," an 1833 mansion recently purchased by the Heritage Association and currently under restoration. Funds from the Pilgrimage will further this project.

In addition to "The Georgian," points of interest on the tour are: The Stanberry-Rising-First Methodist Church Home (1834), built by the first Attorney General of the State of Ohio and later United States Attorney General; Sherman House (1811), birthplace of General William T. Sherman and his brother, John, U.S. Senator and author of the Anti-trust Act which bears his name; Emanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church (1920), a modified Gothic structure where the ladies of the church will be serving food; Wagnalls Memorial, founded in 1924 by Mabel Wagnalls-Jones to be used as a library and community center; a Log Cabin, believed to be the upper story of a cabin built by squatters circa 1803; the Carroll, Ohio, Hocking Valley C&O Depot in use from 1871-1966 also a covered bridge which was originally over the Ohio Canal; the France house (1974), formerly a barn and adjacent building used as a slaughter house, both which have been converted into a most unusual and beautiful home; the Carpenter house (circa 1875), a recently restored farm house; the Fox house (1831), built with plans brought from Germany by Captain Augustus Witte in 1829; the Welsh home (1836) with its four majestic Doric pillars reaching two stories high to the pediment; and the Masheter home (1831), which has its original root cellar, currently used by the present owners.

Visitors may begin their tour at "The Georgian," where tickets will be available at $4.00 for adults and $1.50 for children. Tickets will also be available at each of the five homes, Wagnalls Memorial, the Hotel Lancaster across the street from "The Georgian," and at the Holiday Inn at 1858 North Memorial Drive on the freeway approaching Lancaster.

A buffet luncheon at the Lancaster Country Club will be served from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on both days to ticket holders only. Reservations ($4.00) must be made in advance by sending a check or money order to Mrs. Jack Furniss, Jr., 740 Grandview, Lancaster, Ohio 43130. Tour tickets may be obtained in advance from Mrs. Gerald Stebelton, 328 Scott Drive, Lancaster, Ohio, 43130.

'Flower Cookery' planned at Kingwood Center

Have you ever tried rose soup, carnation sandwiches, stuffed tulips or chrysanthemum shrimp salad? Learning how to make these items and other tasty delights from flowers will be the topic of a lecture given by Mrs. Leona Woodring Smith at the Kingwood Center Meeting Hall on Wednesday, April 23 at 8:00 p.m. Her talk-demonstration "The Forgotten Art of Flower Cookery" will be sponsored by the Kingwood Chapter of the Indoor Light Gardening Society of America and the Kingwood Herb Society. Free tickets are required for this public lecture and can be obtained by contacting Kingwood.

Mrs. Smith spent several years researching flower cookery before writing a book "The Forgotten Art of Flower Cookery" published by Harper & Row. She is now a recognized authority on the subject and lectures to garden clubs and other organizations throughout the United States. She has been on several quiz and talk shows such as "What's my Line". She has probably converted thousands of people to the creative use of garden flowers in cooking.

Although many garden flowers can be used in cooking there has been a steady decline in their use since the height of their popularity in Elizabethan Europe during the late 16th century. Today, few people eat flowers except such non-descript ones as artichokes, broccoli and cauliflower. Although many of the more showy flowers such as carnations, roses, tulips, marigolds or violets will never replace steak and potatoes, most of them can be a delight to the palate of the gourmet while adding color to the table and pocketbook.

Almost 30 different flowers will be discussed and depicted with slides and samples during her presentation. Recipes for jellies, soups, sauces, sandwiches, flowers, vinegars, saffrons and puddings will be available as handouts as well as a few samples for tasting.

Youth Activities

TRAIL BLAZERS 4-H

The second meeting of the Trail Blazers 4-H Club took place in the home of Phyllis LeBeau. Dale Ford, president, called the meeting to order and Dale also led the Pledges. Cheryl Hale read minutes, called the role and Cassandra Delay gave the treasurer's report.

The bake sale date was changed to April 12. Cheryl reported that the program committee will put the programs together, and members will have a practice ride following the bake sale.

Club members will go on a tour of the Ohio State Veterinarian Clinic April 26. The next meeting will be held April 7 in the Mount Sterling Methodist Church at 7 p.m. Refreshments were served by Tina and Sherry Kaser.

Cheryl Hale, reporter

HELPFUL HOMEMAKERS

The Belle-Aire Helpful Homemakers 4-H club visited Monique Fabric shop. The manager talked to members about different fabrics suitable for the types of clothing club members will be making. The girls were shown how to find permanent press fabrics by reading the tops of the bolt. Club members enjoyed browsing around the store looking at the many fabrics.

They then walked to McDonalds for refreshments. The next meeting will be April 2 at the school.

Susan Wright, reporter

SCOUT TROOP 229

The meeting of Boy Scout Troop 229 was called to order when members discussed the Spring Camporee for April 25, 26 and 27.

We also made plans for the next meetings, and played some games. Following patrol meetings, the meeting was adjourned.

4-H TRACTOR CLUB

The last meeting of the 4-H Tractor Club was held at the Parts and Service Center. We turned our project books in and planned for our annual Tractor Rodeo June 1 at the Fayette County Fairgrounds. Refreshments were served.

Ruckelshaus won't run for Senate

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Former Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. William Ruckelshaus says he definitely will not seek Indiana's Republican nomination for U.S. Senator next year.

Ruckelshaus, here Saturday to address the 41st annual meeting of the Hoosier State Press Association, said, "I'm practicing law in Washington. I am enjoying it and I am going to stay there awhile. I am not a candidate."

Gov. Otis R. Bowen recently appointed the former state representative from Indianapolis to head a commission on individual privacy. Some observers had seen that appointment as a possible "foot in the door" in the Senate campaign.

Ruckelshaus said his aim on the commission would be to gather information on how various public and private agencies collect data on individuals, what use is made of it, what abuses there have been and what legitimate purposes are served by the intelligence-gathering.

Florida accident kills 2 Ohioans

LIVE OAK, Fla. (AP) — Two young men from Ohio were killed near this North Florida town over the weekend when their car slammed into a tractor-trailer rig parked on a roadside, the Florida Highway Patrol said.
Troopers said killed in the late Saturday wreck were Richard Widder, 20, and David Peterman Jr., 18, both of Marysville, Ohio.
Widder and Peterman were vacationing in Florida, the troopers said.

Diabetes is found most often in four general groups: persons over the age of 35, ones who are the blood relative of a diabetic, persons who are overweight and mothers whose babies weighed 9 lbs. or more at birth. These categories by no means eliminate everyone else, because diabetes can strike at any age from many causes.

Left untreated, diabetes can lead to very serious complications such as blindness, kidney disease, or hardening of the arteries. Diabetes was the sixth-leading cause of death in this country last year.

So don't take a chance, take a test at this free detection clinic this Friday at the Washington Inn. It's quick, simple and could be the best step of your life.

Harris Auction wins Jaycee tournament

HARRIS AUCTION from Greenfield posted an 85-70 victory over challenger Knights of Columbus Post 624 in Saturday's Jaycee tournament finals at the Washington Middle School. Harris breezed through the double-elimination tourney with a perfect 5-0 record to take the top trophy in the Fifth Annual Jaycee Tournament.

K. of C. 624 from Springfield suffered both tourney defeats at the hands of Harris Auction. The two finalist met in the winners' bracket Wednesday night with Harris taking an easy 83-63 victory.

FLETCHER YATES, who was held to just 14 points in the two teams' first meeting, went on his usual scoring spree to score 34 points. The high scoring center finished the tourney with 152 points for a 30.4 average. Harris also got 24 points from D. Merchant in the tourney final.

K. of C. got its usual balanced scoring attack with Tom Cooney hitting 14 points, Paul Brown scoring 13 and Terry Anderson adding 12.

The Knights held a narrow 14-12 margin after the first period, but Harris tossed in 24 points in the second quarter to take a six point lead. Harris Auction, fresh from a second place finish in the Sabina Lions Tournament, put the game away with a 25-point third quarter.

K. OF C. won two games Friday night in the bracket finals including a 106-96 victory over tough Superior Carpet. Area rivals Harris and Superior never had the chance to meet in this year's tourney with the Knights handing Superior both its tournament losses. Proceeds from the 14-game affair will go to various Jaycee projects such as Pony League Football and Fourth of July fireworks.

This is the fifth annual Jaycee tournament with last year's champ, Dayne Puckett All-Stars, dropping out early. Previous champions include Economy Savings and Loan of Wilmington (1973), Wilson Lumber (1972); Washington Lumber (1971) and the tourney's first champion Flynn's Real Estate from Greenfield.

MERV RETTENMUND

It's been a rough-to-take comedown for the two-time 20-game winner, once the premier lefty in the American League.

"After the bad year I had I wanted to have a good spring," said Lolich. "It makes you wonder."

Rettenmund wondered aloud about Lolich's troubles. "He's nothing like the pitcher he was then. Then he was nasty."

"He was a two-pitch pitcher: a hard slider and fastball. That's all he threw and he was tough to hit," said Rettenmund.

Rettenmund credits his torrid spring hitting to being more relaxed at the plate.

HE worked extensively with batting coach Ted Kluzeski Saturday, hitting off a batting tee.

"The thing I like best is that I was aggressive at the plate. I swung at five pitches—none of them strikes—with the count at 3-2. I went up there swinging," he said.

UCLA, Kentucky in title tilt

SAN DIEGO (AP) — For the coach who has just about everything, there is only one more thing that the UCLA Bruins can give John Wooden: another national basketball championship.

And they hope to do that tonight in the drama-filled final of the NCAA playoffs.

The fabulous Bruins, gunning for their 10th national title in 12 years, face Kentucky's Wildcats at the San Diego Sports Arena in a game that truly befits the occasion.

Not only are UCLA and Kentucky ranked 1-2 in the nation, and not only are these among the most tradition-laden basketball schools in America, but an element of Hollywood drama has been added to the scenario.

Wooden, the guiding light at UCLA for 27 years and the most successful college basketball coach who ever lived, has announced his retirement from the game and the team he loves. This motivational factor could be all the formidable Bruins need to put them over the top, although Wooden insists that he didn't make his retirement announcement today in order to "hype the players."

If Wooden didn't mean it that way, the psychological ingredient nevertheless is there. It certainly crossed the mind of Kentucky Coach Joe Halp.

"There's no way we can come up with something with the impact of a resignation," said Halp.

Other intangibles are apparent: pride, tradition and momentum. Both teams have all three.

When the teams take the court for the 6:10 p.m. PDT starting time before an expected sellout crowd of more than 15,000 and a national television audience of millions, they'll carry a composite total of 13 national championships with them. Wooden has won nine for the Bruins, including seven straight at one point, and Kentucky boasts four crowns, all in the fabled era of Adolph Rupp.

And both teams are red hot. UCLA sports a 27-3 record and Kentucky is 26-4.

Aside from intangibles, UCLA may have some very real problems to face. Kentucky has an inexhaustible supply of brawny players. It's this shuttle system that eventually wore down powerful Indiana in the regional playoffs and could pose a giant problem for the Bruins.

Some oddsmakers give a slight edge to UCLA, but Kentucky clearly has the edge in depth.

"I'm extremely impressed with Kentucky, it's size and it's strength," said the 64-year-old Wooden. "I don't know when I've looked at a more awesome, physical group of basketball players. Obviously, they are a lot more physical and a lot stronger than we are."

Also, the Bruins might have injury problems. Dave Meyers, their All-American forward, aggravated an injured leg while UCLA was beating Louisville 75-74 in overtime Saturday. "We don't know how the leg will react," said Wooden.

SO THE BLIND CAN SKI — Sammy Skobel, right, a blind skier, discusses a voice-activated radio with his guide during a recent Colorado ski trip. The radio, suggested by Skobel and built by the Motorola Corp., enables the guide to radio instructions to the skier as he precedes the guide on the downhill course. Because the radio is voice-activated, the guide and skier are both free to use their poles.

Nicklaus grabs Heritage crown

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Jack's back!

He'd been overshadowed in recent months by the gaudy exploits of Johnny Miller. His long-time role as the game's greatest player had again been challenged. There were hints that his era had passed its peak, that he was on the downgrade.

But Jack Nicklaus suddenly and authoritatively has reasserted his superiority in the game he's dominated for a decade.

He's won his last two times out and Miller was in the field each time.

And his last victory — in the prestigious Heritage Classic Sunday — came over an elite invitational field that included almost all of the Masters hopefuls. Among them were Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf, Bruce Crampton, Hale Irwin and most of the young stars. And Miller.

He stunned them with a fantastic 63 in Friday's round, gave them life with a 74 Saturday and put them all away with a solid 68 Sunday that completed a tournament record total of 271, 13-under-par.

More important, he now goes to Augusta, Ga. and the upcoming Masters at the top of his game, perhaps playing as well as he has in the past 10 years.

"My swing pattern is very good, better than it has been in two or three years," said Nicklaus, who annually makes the Masters his first big goal of the season.

Pressure mounting in NHL

By The Associated Press

Pressure week started Sunday in the National Hockey League. In Division I, five points separate the three teams trying for the two remaining playoff spots. In Division 2, two points separate the first three teams.

In another important category, the Philadelphia Flyers and Montreal Canadiens lead the Buffalo Sabres by one point in the battle for the league's best record. That distinction carries with it the guarantee of a home-ice advantage in very round of the playoffs.

Each team is handling the pressure differently. Some are coping with it, some aren't.

"We were so tight," said Flames goalie Dan Bouchard after Atlanta had tied the New York Islanders 2-2 on Tom Lysiak's goal with less than five minutes left. The deadlock kept alive the Flames' hopes of a playoff berth.

"We'll have to go for broke," said Bouchard of the next game, which pits the same teams again Tuesday night and could mean the Atlanta's elimination from playoff contention.

The Rangers, losers to the Islanders Saturday, moved back into a second-place tie with their local rivals on an 8-2 stampede of Kansas City. After holding a pre-game team meeting to "clear the "Obviously, I'm very very pleased."

In his last three tournaments he's had a 63 — on one of the world's toughest golf courses — a pair of 66s a 67, a couple of 68s, three 69s and an unofficial 64 while playing in a four-some with President Ford.

But there's no danger that his game may have peaked too soon.

"Not going into Augusta," he said. "If anything, it works the other way. If I'd lost, maybe I'd feel that my game had peaked too soon. There's no such thing as playing too good going into Augusta."

He appeared to play just as well as need be in the dull, dreary weather that marked the final round over the treacherous, 6,655-yard Harbour Town Golf Links.

He birdied the 11th after a seven-iron shot to within six or seven feet and Weiskopf bogeyed the 12th, missing the green. That gave Jack a two-stroke margin and it was just a matter of finishing.

"I'm disappointed at not winning," Weiskopf said, "but at least I'm glad I could make a golf tournament out of it."

Tom Weiskopf closed with a par 71 and was second at 274. They were the only two in the chase. Charles Coody came on with a brilliant 65 and took third at 279, eight shots back.

Irwin, a two-time winner here, was well back with a 75 — 284. Trevino and Player, making his first start in this country this year, tied at 285. Trevino had a closing 71. Player 74. Palmer had a 68, his best round of the tournament, and 288.

Miller failed to make the cut for the final two rounds.

Racketeer slain in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The blast that tore apart the body of racketeer Alex "Shondor" Birns and hurled it through the roof of his car could be the prelude to a gang war here, police said today.

Birns was killed Saturday night when dynamite under the seat of his car exploded moments after he left a west side bar. The car then burst into flames.

Officers who declined identification said the bombing may have been part of an underworld move to take over control of numbers operations and prostitution or could have been a settlement by one of the enemies Birns made in what was described as a long life of crime.

Birns, 70, had made it a habit to leave a downtown restaurant, the Theatrical, and to arrive at Christy's Lounge at the same hour each weeknight, always parking in the same place at the rear of the lounge. On Saturdays he went to the Silver Quill in suburban Lakewood, and then to Christy's, officers said. They said the lot in which he parked at the lounge and in which the explosion occurred was known only to regular patrons of the bar.

Three persons were being questioned, officers said, adding that "with a crime of this violent nature, you question everybody you can."

One police spokesman said that "nobody in the department has a good idea of what's going on out there. We hear of some friction with some people. It could have been something out of the past."

"Birns was dabbling in clearinghouse and booking a little," the spokesman added. "He hasn't been bothering anybody and hasn't been pushing anybody around. He's been like a consultant out there, an advisor."

Police Chief Louis Westenburg of Orange, where Birns resided, described him as friendly and quiet, adding, "You never really saw him."

Others who knew him tell of the 60-cent Mexican cigars he always smoked and say he was a gentleman in public despite tales to the contrary as to his private life, tales alleging he was involved in bomb deaths of others over the years.

"He was a super guy," said Irving "Buddy" Spitz, Theatrical manager. "Whatever his private life was, it wasn't reflected here."

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Harry Jaffe described him as "the most pleasant, sociable guy in the world" when seen at the restaurant, adding, "Even my wife liked him."

Once described as Cleveland Public Enemy No. 1, Birns was last convicted in 1968 and was sentenced to a term in Marion Correctional Institution for bribery and witness tampering in connection with a Parma numbers raid. He was released in 1971.

His first sentence came in 1925, on car theft.

Between those years he was charged repeatedly but seldom convicted. Among his convictions were those for income tax evasion in 1954 and for assault and battery on a Cleveland policeman in 1949.

Born in Austria-Hungary in what now is Czechoslovakia, he came to Cleveland when he was a year old, but never became a citizen.

He operated posh restaurants that often were considered the "in" place to go, and he was linked to a gangland war over organizing numbers operations on the city's east side and to attempts to muscle in on numbers rackets in Lorain County on the west.

Joins real estate firm

Bob Green Jr., of New Holland, has joined the Bumgarner-Long Co., 121 W. Market St., as a licensed real estate salesman.

The 23-year-old Green joined the Bumgarner-Long firm in early March after receiving his salesman's license from the Ohio Real Estate Commission.

A 1969 graduate of Washington Senior High School, Green received a bachelors degree in sociology and history from Indiana University in 1973. While a student at Indiana University, Green was guard on the college football team and a member of the Sigma Pi fraternity.

He is a member of the Fayette County Board of Realtors. His father, Bob Green Sr., is also associated with the Bumgarner-Long Co.

Clemency deadline arrives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials overseeing President Ford's clemency program for Vietnam wartime deserters and draft evaders were alerted for a possible rush of calls before the sign-up deadline of midnight tonight.

When counting stopped Friday for the weekend, 22,556 of the nearly 120,000 eligible persons had signed up.

There are three separate ways of signing up, depending on a man's status:

—The Presidential Clemency Board is for men convicted for draft evasion or punished for desertion by court martial by less than honorable discharge. Of the more than 100,000 eligible for this, the sign-up late Friday totaled 16,714.

—Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., is the center for processing deserters who have not been punished. Of the 12,500 eligible 5,253 had signed up by Friday.

—The Justice Department administers the program for 4,400 unconvicted draft dodgers. Late Friday 589 had signed up with local U.S. attorneys.

Applicants to the Clemency Board can telephone 202-456-2210 or 202-456-6476. Applicants to Ft. Benjamin Harrison can phone 317-542-3141 or 317-542-2682. Applicants for the Justice Department program were advised to contact their local U.S. attorney.

Nearly two-thirds of the applicants signed up during February and March after Ford extended the program beyond its original Jan. 31 deadline.

Opening lead - two of diamonds.

It is sometimes difficult to arrive at the best contract when your opponents clutter up your bidding space with nuisance bids.

However, these tactics occasionally boomerang, which is what occurred in this deal from the 1966 World Pair Championship when Buffill and Doria of Spain crossed swords with Desrousseaux and Theron of Doria opened the bidding with a heart and Desrousseaux overcalled with a notrump! This type of overcall with a long suit and a weak hand is known in France as the comic notrump (le sans atout comique). Buffill doubled to show a very good hand and Theron added some spice to the goings-on by leaping to five clubs.

Doria bid five hearts, thus indicating much more than a minimum opening bid, and Buffill raised him to six hearts. Perhaps Theron should have passed - the bidding unquestionably would have died then and there - but he bid seven clubs as a sacrifice against the small slam he felt sure the opponents could make.

This tactic backfired when it gave Doria a chance to make a forcing pass and in that way invite his partner to go on to seven hearts with a suitable hand. The pass was very descriptive, for had Doria held a weaker hand he would have doubled in order to stop partner from bidding a grand slam.

Buffill had no real problem, under the circumstances. He realized that his three aces, facing a forcing pass, were exactly the kind of medicine Doria needed for a grand slam. So he bid seven hearts, which South easily made for a score of 2,210 points, and the comic notrump did not prove to be so

FUR & FEATHER 4-H

The Fur & Feather 4-H club meeting was called to order with the 4-H Pledge and Pledge of Allegiance. Club members welcomed two new members, Bill Butcher and Clifford Cruse. There were 14 members present; Bob Southward gave the treasurer's report.

Prizes will be awarded to the top three members selling the most brooms which are being sold by the Fur & Feather 4-H club members. Lorraine Huffman brought a white rock rooster for show and tell.

Refreshments were served by David Everhart. Charlene Williamson and Lorraine Huffman will provide refreshments at the next meeting. The meeting will be held some place at 6 p.m. April 10.

Wayne Arnold is the leader and Clyde Estle the assistant.

WAYNE PROGRESSIVE FARMERS 4-H

The March 24 meeting came to order in the Good Hope School gym when Doug Bonham led the Wayne Progressive Farmers 4-H club in the American and 4-H pledges. The heart fund money collected by the members was then turned in.

Each member brought two pies at the Wayne Township Hall for the Good Friday Fish Fry. The decorating committee decorated for the Fish Fry on Thursday. The Hampshire hog judging contest was announced for Saturday at the Clarke County Fairgrounds in Springfield. Many members planned to attend.

Doug Bonham gave an informative report on "Electric Shock". Many pointers were given on what to do in the case of an electrical shock. Jeff Wilt reported on "Tension" and its effects on the human body.

The next meeting will be April 14 in the Good Hope Gym at 8:00 p.m. John Burr, Susan Shepard, Doug Bonham, and Julie Shepard will provide the safety program and refreshments will be served by Bairds and Burrs.

BUSY BEES 4-H

The first part of the Busy Bees 4-H Club meeting took place at the Sew Sew Shop, when Linda Purcell talked to the girls about the various types of material, and different ways to use the fabrics.

The second part of the meeting was held in First Presbyterian Church, and brought to order by Sandy McCoy, president Kim Bryant gave the treasurer's report and Lori Holloway presented the safety report of "Bicycle Safety." Debbie Coppock gave a health report on "How to take Care of Your Hair."

Refreshments were served and the meeting was adjourned.

The next meeting will be held at First Presbyterian Church.

Two cited in weekend mishaps

The Washington C.H. Police Department and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department each arrested two drivers involved in accidents over the weekend.

POLICE

SUNDAY, 3:52 p.m. - An accident on Court Street, near the Circle Avenue intersection, involved cars driven by Cynthia R. Cameron, 17, Greenfield, and Frank S. Crone, 19, Sabina.

Police cited Ms. Cameron for changing lanes without safety and reported no injuries.

SATURDAY, 3:45 p.m. - A car belonging to Larry L. Goodman, Sabina, was struck in the right rear fender by a hit-skip driver while it was parked in the city parking lot on S. Fayette Street.

Police reported moderate damage and are investigating.

9:15 p.m. - A car driven by James B. Rinehart, 52, of 1125 Campbell St., traveled left of center on Wilson Street and struck a parked car belonging to Larry D. Johns, 34, of 112 W. Paint St.

Police cited Rinehart for driving while intoxicated and traveling left of center. Damage to both vehicles was moderate, but Wilson was not injured.

SHERIFF

SATURDAY, 2:25 a.m. - A collision on Lincoln Street, one-tenth mile south of Biddle Blvd. in Bloomingburg, involved a motorcycle driven by Ronnie J. Duncan, 24, of 604 1/2 Gregg St. and a car driven by Jesse J. Winden, 25, Bloomingburg.

Damage to the vehicles was minor and Duncan was cited for driving without an operator's license. No one was injured.

South Vietnamese may lose Saigon

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following assessment of the rapidly developing Vietnamese situation was written by AP Special Correspondent Peter Arnett, who has reported the major developments in the Vietnam War since the early 1960s and won a Pulitzer Prize for his coverage.

By PETER ARNETT

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The South Vietnamese government's military debacle in the northern and central part of the country raises strong doubts that it can hold Saigon.

President Nguyen Van Thieu's power base among senior military officers is being rapidly undermined, and political changes could follow more Communist successes, according to informed sources here.

The sources say Thieu may be challenged by generals who believe they can rally South Vietnam's military forces, or by other senior officials who see negotiations with the Communists as the only way to avoid complete disaster for South Vietnam.

Communist forces have increased the number of provinces under their control during the past month from one to 13, and have put more than half of South Vietnam's 20 million population in captivity, on the run or in a position forcing them to decide soon one course or the other.

Major cities are now prey to Communist attack. Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, fell Sunday, and others along the coast also were crumbling.

Western military analysts see little Thieu can do about it. Should the remaining coastal enclaves fall, the area immediately north of Saigon will be the front line of defense.

Many observers fear the defense of the capital might be as chaotic and fruitless as that of Da Nang, where government troops did not even put up token resistance.

With one-third of the Vietnamese army destroyed, another infantry division in danger of annihilation and hundreds of millions of dollars worth of guns, vehicles, planes and other military equipment abandoned to the Communists, Thieu and his military commanders are left with a minimum of forces to defend Saigon.

Three infantry divisions protect the city, along with two brigades of the airborne division. The Communists oppose them in the jungled war zone just north of the city with five infantry divisions and possibly a sixth and a formidable array of sapper, armor and antiaircraft units.

Thieu said he abandoned the Central Highlands and then the northern provinces because his forces were hopelessly outnumbered. He is now also outnumbered in the Saigon area.

Routine matters on board agenda

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners authorized two separate actions Monday during their weekly meeting.

The commissioners approved the purchase of a new check writer machine at a net cost of $832 for the county auditor's office and signed a proclamation declaring April 7-12 Miami Trace Scholarship Week.

In other business, the commissioners heard 25 dog reports from Fayette County dog warden Reginald (Chink) Davis and were to receive bids on the Harry Flint (Post) Ditch project at 11 a.m.

Chairman Ray Warner reported he had been appointed to the Ohio County Commissioners Association sewer and water committee and vice chairman Bob Mace was appointed to the taxation committee.

On the commissioner's schedule, the bids on the Eagle's parking lot are to be received in the commissioner's office by noon April 14 and bids on the Compton Creek improvement project by 11 a.m. April 21.

Police check larceny case

Washington C.H. police reported a larceny and an incident involving destruction of property over the weekend. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported incidents of trash dumping and larceny.

A tool box and a light were stolen from a John Deere tractor while it was setting on a Dayton, Toledo and Ironton railroad car, at the rear of the DT&I building on W. Court Street.

Police reported the incident Friday night and are continuing their investigation.

Four glass windows valued at $25, were broken at Huff Electric Co., 920 N. North St., sometime between 10 a.m. Friday and Saturday, city police reported.

Approximately 45 gallons of gasoline were stolen from the Harley Mongold farm on Jenks Road, sometime between 6 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. Saturday, sheriff's deputies reported.

Trash was discovered on U.S. 22-E, two-tenths of a mile east of Johnson Road, at 10:45 a.m. Saturday, sheriff's deputies reported. They are investigating.

Radio engineer succumbs at 47

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — Mark A. Carey, chief engineer of Truth Radio Corp. of Elkhart, died Saturday of an apparent heart attack. He was 47. Carey, a native of Converse, Ind., had been with the chain of stations since 1954.

Arrests

SHERIFF

High court turns down waste order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused to order the Reserve Mining Co. to stop dumping waste from its Silver Bay, Minn., iron ore processing plant into Lake Superior within two years.

The court declined to set aside an order of the U.S. circuit court in St. Louis giving Reserve a "reasonable time" to begin dumping its taconite waste on land and reduce its smokestack emissions.

Officials of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and allied environmental groups asked the Supreme Court to set the more specific timetable after the circuit court order was issued on March 14.

They said the action of the circuit court had "set the stage for indefinite delay." The dispute over Reserve Mining has been in the courts for roughly six years.

The state and the environmental groups said a two-year deadline would be "fair and equitable."

"In light of the health hazard involved it may well even be too long a time," they said.

Taconite wastes contain asbestos fibers which have been identified as a possible cancer-causing agent.

The circuit court found, however, that there was no imminent danger to health from the waste discharges.

Gilligan cousin gets job offer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A cousin of former Gov. John J. Gilligan, Michael Joyce, has been offered a job with a Republican who once managed the Ohio State Fair under Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Jerry L. Kaltenbach, former fair manager and now president of Gooding Amusement Co., said he offered Joyce a job in charge of food service for Jerry Kaltenbach Enterprises Inc., which has the contract for concessions on the bicentennial Freedom Train.

He said Joyce would have no connections with Kaltenbach's state fair operations. Joyce currently serves on the Ohio Expositions Commission which runs the fair. He was one of Gilligan's last appointments.

Kaltenbach said Joyce is not on either the Gooding or the Kaltenbach Enterprises payroll currently and would not be until his connection with the fair is cleared up.

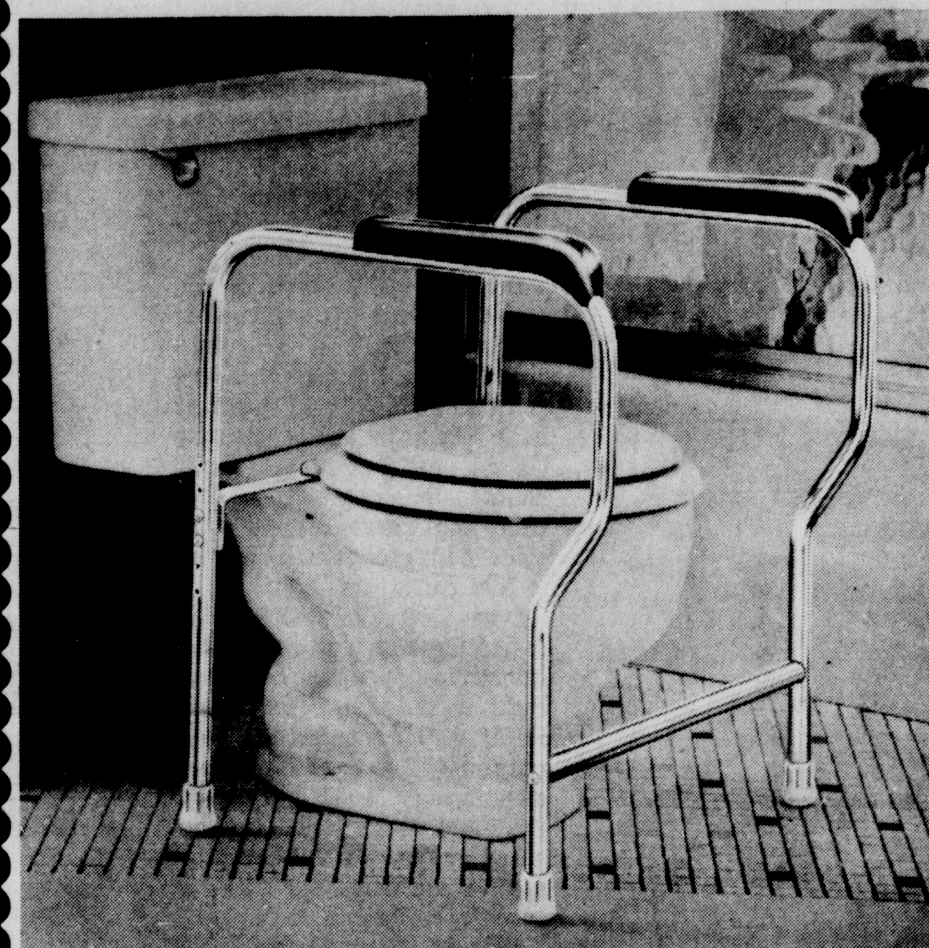

Joyce and Kaltenbach, a Republican who was appointed fair manager by former Rhodes during Rhodes' first term, are good friends.

Kaltenbach admitted a conflict of interest question could arise because they both are connected with the fair.
